The a16z Summit is the premier event bridging thinkers, builders, and innovators to explore and examine the future of tech—where we are today, what’s next on the horizon, and what we can’t yet begin to imagine.

Hosted by Andreessen Horowitz, this gathering is carefully curated—from the invited guests, (including C-suite from F500/G2000; academic researchers; industry influencers; and key institutional investors), to the thought leaders on stage. No other conference creates this unique intersection of networks on an intimate scale to allow for real connections, conversations, and discoveries to take place.

2018 Highlights
Engage with Industry Leaders, Entrepreneurs, and Influencers

As in previous years, the 2018 a16z Summit brought together leaders and experts from a wide range of industries around a common dialogue of tech and innovation. The event fostered nearly 6,000 connections among groundbreaking entrepreneurs; C-suite from F500/G2000 companies; distinguished computer science and engineering researchers and academics; top international endowments and institutional investors; policy leaders, influencers; and many other notable friends of the firm.
This was a stand out conference—mind expanding and thought provoking.”

ATTENDEE

You guys blew my mind at a16z. Of all the conferences I attend (Davos, TED, etc) this is my new favorite. Well done and thank you.”
